Raylan Givens: The Modern-Day Cowboy

Raylan Givens is a protagonist who walks the thin line between lawman and outlaw, often bending the rules to uphold his version of justice. Born and raised in Harlan County, Kentucky, Givens is a U.S. Marshal with a distinctive cowboy style. He is a quick-draw gunslinger with sharp instincts, making him a formidable opponent for any criminal. With his Stetson hat and a penchant for quoting Western movie lines, Givens brings a unique mix of Old West charm and contemporary grit to the world of Leonard's stories.

Frank Ryan: The Mastermind with a Twist

Frank Ryan is a criminal with a genius intellect who always seems to be one step ahead. Unlike many other characters in Leonard's novels, Ryan isn't motivated by personal gain or power. Instead, he relishes the challenge of outsmarting law enforcement and the criminal underworld.

Jack Foley: The Bank Robber with a Heart

Jack Foley is a career bank robber who possesses a unique sense of honor. While his criminal lifestyle may seem contradictory to notions of morality, Foley is guided by a code of principles that distinguishes him from the typical outlaw.
